- h) act as to all other matters not requiring member approval.

3.3. Delegation to Senior Management

The board has delegated the day to day management of the Company to the managing director who in turn may delegate to senior management. This delegation includes:

- a) developing business plans, budgets and company strategies for consideration by the board and, to the extent approved by the board, implementing those plans, budgets and strategies;
- b) operating the business of the Company within the parameters determined by the board and keeping the board promptly informed of all developments material to the Company and its business;

- c) where proposed transactions, commitments or arrangements to be undertaken by management exceed limits authorised by the board, referring the matter to the board for consideration and approval;
- d) identifying and managing operational risks and formulating strategies for managing those risks for consideration by the board;
- e) managing the Company's financial and other reporting mechanisms and controls and monitoring systems to ensure that they capture all relevant material information on a timely basis and are functioning effectively;
- f) ensuring that the board is provided with sufficient information on a timely basis in relation to the Company's business and, in particular, in relation to the Company's performance, financial condition, operating results, risks and prospects to enable the board to discharge its duties; and
- g) implementing the policies, processes and codes of conduct approved by the board.

4. Composition and structure of the board

4.1. Number of Directors

The constitution provides that the board will determine the number of directors, provided there is a minimum of three. The board is currently of the view that the desirable number of directors is five.

4.2. Term of Office – Non-executive Directors

Any non-executive director should be willing to serve for not less than that period of time determined by the board at the time of the non-executive director's appointment. Each non-executive director should generally resign after having served on the board for fifteen years unless the other directors unanimously request that director to continue in office. In that case the non-executive director will continue as a director until he or she resigns or does not stand for re-election or another director does not approve of him or her standing for re-election.

4.3. Contribution

No non-executive director should consider that support for re-election is automatic. If the contribution of a non-executive director is determined by the board to be inadequate or harmful to the proper functioning of the board then the board may request such non-executive director to resign. If he or she does not do so the board may resolve to instruct the company secretary to inform shareholders that the board does not support the re-election of the non-executive director at the annual general meeting at which he or she is due to next offer himself or herself for re-election.

4.4. Term of Office – Executive Directors

Executive directors must resign from the board upon ceasing to hold an executive position with the Company. They may be eligible for re-appointment as a director if they fulfil the criteria for non-executive directors.

4.5. Terms of Appointment

Each director may be required to enter into a formal appointment document with the Company setting out the terms and conditions of the director's appointment.

4.6. Notifications

Each director must notify the chair before accepting any other position (whether executive or non-executive and paid or unpaid) which may affect, or could be perceived as affecting, his or her ability to perform the duties of a director of the Company.

4.7. Code of Conduct

Each director is bound by the code of conduct of the Company.

5. Chair

5.1. Chair

The directors will appoint one of the directors as chair of the board.

5.2. Responsibilities of the Chair

The chair is responsible for the leadership of the board, for ensuring that the board functions effectively and for communicating the views of the board to the public. The chair's responsibilities include:

- a) setting the agendas for board meetings;
- b) managing the conduct, frequency and length of board meetings with a view to ensuring that the board has an in-depth understanding of the Company's financial position and performance and opportunities facing the Company;
- c) facilitating open and constructive communications between directors and encouraging their contribution as directors;
- d) facilitating open and constructive communications between the board and the managing director.

consultant to the Company or its controlled entities;

- d) is not a material supplier or client of the Company or its controlled entities, or an officer of or otherwise associated directly or indirectly with a material supplier or client;
- e) has no material contractual relationship with the Company or its controlled entities other than as a director of the Company;
- f) has not served on the board for a period which could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company;
- g) is free from any interest and any business or other relationship which could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company; or
- h) is determined by the board to be independent.

6. Independence of directors

6.1. Test of Independence

A director of the Company will be considered to be independent if he or she is a non-executive director and:

- a) is not a substantial shareholder of the Company or an officer of, or otherwise associated directly with, a substantial shareholder of the Company;
- b) within the last three years, has not been employed in an executive capacity by the Company or its controlled entities or as a director thereof;
- c) within the last three years, has not been:
 - i. a principal of a material professional adviser to the Company or its controlled entities;
 - ii. a material consultant to the Company or its controlled entities; or
 - iii. an employee materially associated with the service provided by such adviser or

6.2. Materiality

The board will determine relevant materiality thresholds for the purposes of determining independence from time to time. The board will regularly assess the independence of each independent director having regard to the information disclosed by each director.

6.3. Director's Obligations

Each director must notify the board of any circumstances (including family ties and cross-directorships) which may reasonably be perceived as potentially affecting the independence of that director, upon such circumstances becoming imminent or, in any event, immediately upon such circumstances occurring.

7. Proceedings

7.1. Frequency and Notice

The board will meet, and notice will be given of such meeting, in accordance with the constitution. Resolutions of the board may be passed by circular written resolution as permitted by the Company's constitution.

7.2. Board Papers

Supporting papers for each meeting of the board will be distributed by the company secretary to all directors a reasonable time in advance of the meeting.

7.3. Meeting Quorum

The chair will take reasonable measures to ensure that where possible, in accordance with the constitution, a quorum is formed for each meeting and for each agenda item.

7.4. Attendance of Others

The chair of the meeting may request the attendance of any person at a meeting who is responsible for, or associated with, a matter included as an agenda item at a meeting. The company secretary will act as secretary to the board and attend meetings of the board unless the board resolves otherwise.

7.5. Minutes

Minutes of meetings of the board must be prepared and circulated to the chair for approval within one month of the meeting, approved by the chair and then circulated to all directors.

8. Board committee and delegation

8.1. Committees

The board may establish committees to assist in the discharge of its responsibilities from time to time.

8.2. Charters

The board will adopt committee charters in respect of all committees, addressing the composition, responsibilities, administration and any other matters the board determines relevant to such committee.

8.3. Attendance of Directors at Committee Meetings

Any director may be invited to attend meetings of committees of which he or she is not a member. On appropriate notice any non-executive director may attend meetings of any committee of which he or she is not a member.

9. Assessment and evaluation of board performance

9.1. Evaluation

The board will, at least once in each financial year, complete a performance evaluation:

- a) of the board and of individual directors and assess the performance of the board and individual directors against the requirements of this charter, against criteria determined by the board from time to time and against the requirements of the constitution; and
- b) establishing the goals and objectives of the board for the forthcoming year.

9.2. Procedures

The board will determine the manner and form of the performance evaluation.

10. Related party transactions and disclosure of interest

10.1. Related Party Transactions

Directors, or entities in which a director has a significant interest or over which he or she has significant influence, who enter into a transaction with the Company or its controlled entities (other than a transaction involving the payment of directors' remuneration) must make full disclosure to the Company.

All such transactions must be approved by the board in advance of committing the Company or its controlled entities.

10.2. Declaration of Material Personal Interests

Directors must disclose all matters involving the Company or its controlled entities in which they have a material personal interest, except for an interest which arises because the director is a member of the Company, and is held in common with the other members of the Company.

Disclosure may be made either by giving notice on a specific transaction basis or as a standing notice. Notices must be in writing, must include details of the nature and extent of the interest of the director in the matter, must show the relation of the interest to the affairs of the Company or its controlled entities (other than in the case of a standing notice) and must be given to each director and tabled at the next board meeting. The company secretary will record details of the notice in the minutes of the meeting.

Directors must provide new notices if the nature and extent of their interest changes at any time.

The company secretary will maintain a register of notices tabled at board meetings and will make this register available to new directors when appointed.

Where a matter in which a director has a material personal interest, whether or not declared, is being considered at a board meeting, that director must not:

- a) be present while the matter is being considered, or
- b) vote on the matter;

unless directors who do not have a material personal interest in the matter pass a resolution that:

- c) identifies the director, the nature and extent of the director's interest in the matter and its relation to the affairs of the Company or its controlled entities; and
- d) states that those directors are satisfied that the interest should not disqualify the director from voting or being present.

11. Independent advice and access to information

11.1. Independent Advice to the Board

The board is entitled to obtain external legal or other independent professional advice in relation to any board matter and to seek the attendance of such advisers at meetings if it is considered necessary.

11.2. Independent Advice to Directors

A director is entitled to obtain external legal or other independent professional advice in relation to the performance of his or her duties as a director of the Company, and to seek the attendance of such advisers at meetings if it is considered necessary provided the director:

- a) informs the chair of the reason for seeking advice, of the name of the person from whom the advice will be sought and of the estimated cost of the advice; and
- b) obtains the consent of the chair to obtaining the advice.

11.3. Chairperson's Consent

The chair must not unreasonably withhold consent to a director seeking external legal or other independent professional advice or seeking attendance of advisers. The chair must inform the other directors of any such request for consent from a director as soon as possible.

11.4. Copies of Advice

The details or copies of the advice so obtained must be provided to the board as soon as possible after the advice is obtained unless the director who sought the advice requests not to disclose the advice and is able to demonstrate that the advice obtained is personal to his or her specific lawful performance, duties and/or responsibilities as a director or is able to demonstrate that the disclosure of the advice would compromise the legal professional privilege that attaches to the advice and that retaining that privilege would be in the best interests of the Company or its controlled entities.

11.5. Cost of Advice

The costs reasonably incurred in obtaining external legal or other independent professional advice by the board or a director is reimbursable by the Company.

11.6. Access

For the purposes of obtaining legal advice, the board and any director is authorised to seek any information they reasonably require from any employee of the Company or its controlled entities or from any other source.

12. Indemnity and insurance

Unless the board resolves otherwise each director will enter into a deed with the Company whereby:

- a) to the extent permitted by law, the Company will indemnify the director against liability arising out of the discharge of the director's duties;
- b) the Company agrees to maintain insurance for the director against liability incurred in his or her capacity as a director for the term of his or her appointment and for seven years after cessation of that term; and
- c) the Company agrees to maintain all board papers relating to the director's term of office and to make those papers available to the director for a period of seven years after cessation of office to the extent required under the Corporations Act.

13. Review of charter

The board will review this charter and the committee charters (if any) every three years or more often as the board determines and make any changes it determines necessary or desirable.

14. Access to the charter

This charter will be available for viewing by any person on the Company's website or a copy will be sent upon request.
